Datatel Portal

Your User and Information Gateway to the Future of Education

What's more important than having a single user experience for your constituents? It's having access to all the critical data within Datatel Colleague® at your fingertips. No longer is a portal a nice addition to promote on campus. Today, it's a must-have. The success of your institution, your students, and your faculty depends on it.

The Datatel Portal is now a required and critical element of the Colleague suite ecosystem. The Datatel Portal serves two very important purposes. First, it provides a singular user experience and familiarity for every person, on and off campus.

Second, it is the powerful data engine whose sole purpose is to get important information into and out of Colleague. The Datatel Portal is the foundation for new products such as our Intelligent Learning Platform and Datatel Mobile Access (MOX), but more importantly, it's the starting point for all new powerful, data-driven features and products.

Critical Data at Your Fingertips

In today's economic environment, every dollar counts and every decision is that much more important. You no longer can afford simply to guess what incoming students want, take chances with financial aid decisions, and struggle over how best to retain and support at-risk students. You need the complete picture.

The Datatel Portal is your window to the 360-degree view you need. It offers complete integration with every service and data element in Colleague, as well as single sign-on to third-party applications and reporting tools. Instead of jumping between multiple systems, databases, and screens looking for data, you'll spend more time collaborating and making better use of available resources.

In addition, the Datatel Portal lets users build dashboards that provide up-to-the-minute graphical representations of key performance indicators across campus, allowing staff, departmental managers, and executives to view critical information at a glance so they can make timely, data-driven decisions.

A Standard User Experience for All Constituents

Students, faculty, staff, and alumni have fingertip access to all the information and resources they need, including teaching and learning systems, registration, calendaring, newsfeeds, and much more.

And we've saved you time. The Datatel Portal incorporates dozens of pre-built personas for specialized institutional roles—such as advisor, bursar, faculty, executive, and director. Each persona can be tailored by the user, as well as the institution, to address personal preferences, requirements, and business needs.

Dashboards enable staff, managers, and executives to easily view key performance indicators.

The Datatel Portal provides a gateway to all resources a user might need.

Build and Strengthen Relationships

The Datatel Portal creates unlimited opportunities for administrative offices on separate campuses to operate cohesively. It empowers students to establish ad hoc groups. And it enables family members to collaborate with staff, colleagues, and peers. These and other capabilities help create solid learning and long-lasting connections and relationships.

Brand and Personalize Your Portal

In addition to providing a unified experience for all constituents and services across campus, the Datatel Portal provides you with many options to leverage and extend your institution's brand and image.

The Datatel Portal lets users receive the information they want, when they want it, in the manner they prefer. They can predefine the routing of particular messages—to their cell phones, their PDAs, their email accounts, or practically any other communication device—freeing up more time to accomplish vital tasks and ensuring they can be reached immediately if an urgent situation arises.

The Datatel Portal enables your institution and your constituents to create one or many scheduled or ad hoc groups, workspaces, and team sites, and you can even interconnect them to build a true college community. With the Datatel Portal, it's easy to communicate, create, add, and share thoughts, documents, pictures, links, and more—all in real-time. Talk about efficient!
